Homework 9 – Create XML
10 points

Due: Monday 2/18 5pm   Assignment: Create an XML file that has the entire contents of the Burrito Café menu.

Turn In: Submit your XML file to Blackboard Vista.

Create an XML data file that contains all the information from the menu for Café Burrito.

Your file should contain all information about the café, the title, the hours, contact information, and the menu.

Your data file should be designed to be extensible. The owners should be able to add items and categories of items easily.

Your file should use meaningful tag names. You should spend some time thinking about what to call each kind of data.

Your file should contain comments with templates for each elements that you add. See the nutrition example.

You should be able to view your file in a browser without error.

I suggest that you verify your file after each element or group of elements that you add. Its easier to find mistakes if you do that.
